LETTERS FROM THE ANTHRACITE REGION.

Harvey's Lake: Queen Esther's Rock: Monockonock: The Umbrella Tree, etc., etc.

Correspondence of the Bedford Gazette.

WILKES BARRE, Nov. 6, 1867.

NO. II.

DEAR GAZETTE:

In my last I left the reader upon the rocky summit of Campbell's Ledge. Let them now accompany me to Harvey's Lake. This bay of water is 500 feet above the level of the Susquehannah river, and lies twelve miles east of Wilkes Barre. The ride from the latter place, is over a beautiful country, and must be seen to be appreciated. The Lake is an immense spring of pure cold water, with a beautiful clean sand and gravel bottom, and varies in depth from five to two hundred feet. It was first discovered by Benjamin Harvey, who settled upon its outlet prior to the Revolutionary war. It was surveyed when covered with ice, and found to extend over an area of 1285 acres, a little more than two square miles. It is the largest body of fresh water in Pennsylvania, and furnishes an abundant supply of fish. Here and there surrounding this Lake, are cultivated fields, with woodland interspersed, and frowning mountains beyond, forming beautiful scenery, and sheltering the fisherman from the rays of the burning sun, as he rows gently along the shore, or casts his line beneath the trees or in the mountain shadow. Deer are frequently shot at night, as they approach this Lake for water, by hunters in boats with torch-lights. The Lake House, on an elevated spot, near the lake, is a large, commodious and well furnished building. The fare is venison, fish, wild fowls, &c., taken from the surrounding forests and from the crystal water. Parties from Wilkes Barre who wish a freezing sleigh-ride, usually visit the Lake House, dance all night, and return home in the morning, sleepy and half frozen. The next point of interest is "Queen Esther's, or Bloody Rock," which is near the spot where the massacre of Wyoming took place. It derives its name from the following described episode in the bloody history of the early settlement of this valley: Queen Esther, an Indian squaw, with sixteen white captives, each held by a strong Indian, stood around this rock. One Indian after another would advance and lay the captive's head upon the rock, while Queen Esther dashed out their brains with a tomahawk. The bodies were laid in a circle around the rock and burned. This murderess by wholesale, Queen Esther, then rode away, having suspended on a stick the scalps of the slain. Only a few years ago, it was said blood could still be traced on the rock. When I saw it last, it was immense in size, but it has since dwindled away, piece by piece, under the hands of travelers and relic hunters. Some distance from this rock, up the river is Monockonock Island. Some of those who escaped from the fort during the great massacre, hard pressed by their barbarous foe, rushed headlong into the river, while those who were able to swim, reached this island, hoping thus to escape from their enemy. One of the patriots concealed himself in the underbrush, but being discovered by his tory brother, he came forth from his hiding place expecting mercy and protection. "Save my life, brother, and I will serve you all my days." "Ah! save you! You are a d—d rebel," and drawing his rifle to his shoulder, he fired and left his brother weltering in his blood. Many similar bloody scenes occurred on this island. Its history is interwoven with fiction and appeared before the public, a few years ago, in a book called "Mary Derwent."

Upon one of the mountains which enclose the valley, can be seen looming high above the rest of the forest, a tree which, from its resemblance to that article so useful in rainy weather, is called the umbrella tree. It is an immense pine, and in the early days of the Valley, the Indians cut all the branches off, except a few at the top, and underneath this tree, they held their councils. They kept a few branches on the top of the tree, as a guide to Indians in all parts of the Valley. While those, who, years ago, stood under this tree, and made their plans of attack upon the early white settlers, have all passed away, this tree still stands a beautiful remembrancer of the bloody scenes which took place in this Valley.

I am pleased to notice by the papers, that Bedford progresses. First, I notice that you have had an Agricultural Fair, which seems to have been a success. Then, as winter advances, birth is given to a Lyceum. Who can doubt that it will succeed? Doubtless many whose eloquent voices are to be heard, week after week, in this lyceum, will, in after years, stir the whole country by their eloquence at the bar, in the forum, or in the halls of Congress. Much success to the Bedford lyceum! If its members will forgive my boldness, I will propose the following question for discussion. "Did, or did not, Meteors fall on the morning of the 13th of November, 1866? There are several interesting questions to discuss relating to the metoric showers. Pardon this digression. WYOMING.

A GREAT deal has been said about Death on the Pale Horse, but in view of the railroad mortality, people are now beginning to talk about Death on the Iron Horse.

A LAUGHING HERO.

Incident of the Massacre of Goliad.

We find the following sketch in an old number of the New Orleans Delta, and we presume it does not owe all its interest to the author's imagination:

It was the morning of March 17th, 1836. Aurora, the mother of dews and mistress of Golden clouds, came as she almost ever comes to the living scenes of the plains of Goliad—a thing of Beauty, queen of the sky, on a throne of burning amber, robed in the crimson of fire: with a diamond of purple, and streamers of painted pink. Oh! it was a glorious dawn for the poet to sing of earth or the saint to pray to heaven; but poet's song nor saint's prayer made the matins of the place and the hour.—Alas! no; it was a very different sort of music.

A hundred hoarse drums roared the loud reveille that awoke four hundred Texan prisoners and their guard—four times their number of Mexican soldiers—the elite of the Chief Butcher's grand army.

The prisoners were immediately summoned to parade before the post in the main street of the village, and every eye sparkled with joy and every tongue uttered involuntary accumulations of confidence.

"Thanks, Santa Anna! He is going to execute the treaty! We shall be slipped back to the United States! We shall see our friends once more!"

Such were the feelings with which the American volunteers, and the few Texans among them, greeted the order to form into line.

The line was formed and then broken into two columns, when every instrument of music in the Mexican host sounded a merry march, and they moved away with a quick step over prairie towards the west.

Five minutes afterwards, a singular dialogue ocurred between the two leaders of the front columns of the prisoners.

"What makes you walk so lame, Colonel Neil? Are you wounded?" asked a tall man, with blue eyes and bravery flashing forth in all their beams.

"Colonel Fannin, I walk lame to keep from being wounded; do you comprehend?" replied the other with a laugh and such a laugh as no words might describe—it was so loud, so luxurious, like the roar of the breakers of a humor it was, in short, a laugh of the inmost heart.

"I do not comprehend you for I am no artist in riddles," rejoined Fannin, smiling himself, at the ludicrous gaiety of his campanion so strangely illtimed.

"You discover that I am lame in each leg," said Col. Neil, glancing down at the members indicated, and mimicking the movements of a confirmed cripple, as he laughed louder than ever.—"And yet," he added, in a whisper, "I have neither the rheumatism in my knees, nor corns on my toes, but have two big revolvers in my boots?"

"That is a violation of the treaty by which we agreed to give up our arms," Col. Fannin mournfully suggested.

"You will see, however, that I shall need them before the sun is an hour high," replied Neil. "Ah! Fannin, you do not know the treachery of these base Mexicans."

At that instant the sun rose in a sky of extraordinary brilliancy, and a million of flower cups flung their rich odors abroad over the green prairie, as an offering to the lord of light, when the mandate of "halt" was given by one of Santa Anna's aids, and two columns of prisoners were broken up and scattered over the plain in small hollow squares, encircled on every side by Mexican infantry and troops of horse, with loaded muskets and drawn swords. And then a momentary pause, awful in its stillness, and disturbed only by an occasional shriek of terror, and the most timid among the captives realized the impending storm of fire and extinction of life's last hope.

And then infernal work of wholesale murder was begun, and a scene ensued such as scarcely might be matched in the very annals of hell itself. The roar of musketry burst in successive peals like appalling claps of thunder, but could not utterly drown the prayers of the living, the screams of the wounded, and the more terrible groans of the dying!

Col. Fannin fell among the first victims, but not so with the giant Neil.—With the order of the Mexican officer to his men to fire, our hero stooped almost to the earth, so that the volley passed entirely over him. He waited not for a second. Thrusting a hand into the leg of each boot, he rose with a couple of six shooters, the deadly revolvers, and commenced discharging them with the quick rapidity of lightning into the thickest of his foes.

Panic-stricken with surprise and fear, the Mexicans recoiled and opened a passage, through which Neil bounded with the spring of a panther and fled away, as if wings had been tied to his heels, while half a dozen horsemen gave chase. For a while it seemed doubtful whether the giant Colonel would not distance even these, so much had the peril of the occasion increased the natural elasticity of his mighty muscle.—But presently a charger fleeter than the rest might be discerned gaining on his human rival, and approached so near that the dragoon raised his sabre for a coup de grace. Neil became conscious of his danger, and hastily slackened his speed, till the hot steam of smoke from the horses nostrils appeared to mingle with his very hair; and then wheeling suddenly he fired a round from a revolver and the rider tumbled from his saddle. The victim then renewed his flight.

A mad yell of grief and rage broke from the remaining troopers as they witnessed the fate of their comrade, and its effect was immediately evident in the augmented caution of their pursuit—for they gallopped afterwards in one body, greatly retarding their progress, so that Neil reached the river before them. He paused not a moment, but plunged headlong down the steep bank into the current, and struck for the other shore. The dragoons discharged their fire arms ineffectually, and gave over the chase.

In a few minutes Neil had landed, and as soon as he felt satisfied that he was perfectly safe, burst into an insuppressed convulsion of laughter, and exclaimed: "It will kill me, just to see how astonished the yellow devils looked when I hauled my revolvers out of my boots!"

A LIVELY CORRESPONDENCE.

The following genuine correspondence between a Chautauqua (New York) Deputy Postmaster and the Republican State Committee is both amusing and instructive:

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN, 1867.
COM. ROOMS, METROPOLITAN HOTEL, NEW-YORK, OCTOBER 9, 1867.

To John T. Wilson, Esq. Jamestown, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: For the purpose of defraying the proper and legitimate expenses of the approaching election, the State Committee solicits contributions from the friends of the Union cause and the beneficiaries of the Republican Union party. The amount which we have deemed it proper to ask you to contribute to aid in conducting the campaign is sixty dollars, which you will please remit to Waldo Hutchins, Esq., No. 40 Wall Street, New-York.

In view of the shortness of the canvass, an early response is requested.

Yours very truly,

HAMILTON HARRIS, Chairman.
Luther Caldwell, Secretary.

THE REPLY.

JAMESTOWN, New-York, Oct. 15, 1867.—MY DEAR HAMILTON: Your affectionate letter of the 9th was duly received, and in reply I would say that I am very well, never was better; have heard from Pennsylvania and Ohio.—Have you heard from them, Hamilton, and how is your health? Your friends here don't like it, and say, quite disgustedly, that this trading off white votes at the North, for nigger votes at the South, "dont pay." Do you regard it as a profitable investment, Hamilton, and how much more of the stock do you want? It is for sale very cheap among the members of the Union Republican party in this locality.

But in regard to that sixty dollars (don't you wish you may get it?) which you so persuasively expect me to fork over, as one of "the beneficiaries of the Republican Union party." I will own, Hamilton, that I have derived many and great benefits from the party last aforesaid. I don't deny it. For instance, they have beneficently accumulated for me in common with the rest of the people of the United States, a great National debt which, we all admit, is a National blessing.

They have replaced the base and cumbrous metalic currency that used to weigh a man down and impede locomotion, to say nothing about wearing holes in his pockets and disappearing inconveniently in the linings of his trousers, by a light and airy currency that costs but little to manufacture, and nothing to redeem, and which a man can carry around with ease in large amounts if he can only get it.—(Oh! if you could but get $60 of mine.)

They have granted me the glorious privilege of helping furnish board and clothes to my odoriferous brethren of African decent in the Southern States, which blessed privilege they have wrested from the hands of their late oppressors. They have multiplied officers and office-holders, and raised all their salaries and enriched contractors, and by thus adding to the wealth of each individual, have increased the aggregate of national treasure. (Don't you see it, Hamilton? I don't.)

They have done away with the slow, solemn and cumbrous forms and ceremonies of constitutional and civil law in the administration of the government, and adopted the more expeditious and jovial ways of military commission.

They have given the odoriferous, &c., as aforesaid, a choice to vote, sit on juries, hold office, and do everything but work and get an honest living—that is, in the Southern States. (They did go back on him in Ohio.)

Now, in view of these and countless other benefits I have received at their hands, don't you think you were altogether too modest in asking for only $60? I assure you, Hamilton, if you had asked for twice or even ten times as much, it would have been sent you just as cheerfully, and you would have got it just as soon.

Please give my love to Waldo, and tell him when he gets this $60 I shall expect him to spend it all in pulling down corruption, as you advertised to do at Syracuse the other day.

Tell him also in "view of the shortness of the campaign," not to unnecessailly fatigue himself by going too often to the post office after that $60, for if he will only wait patiently a few days, he won't get it.

A due! Hamilton. Be virtuous and you will be happy.

The rose is red.
The violet's blue.
The lily's pure
And how are you?

Yours, as ever, (just about,)
JOHN T. WILSON.

THE "MARTYR PRESIDENT" AND HIS WIFE'S OLD CLOTHES.

The story of Mrs. Lincoln's old clothes, as told by the Radical press, does not leave the reputation of the "lamented" Abraham Lincoln any purer than it ought to be. Don Piatt's newspaper, the Mac-a-cheek Press, extreme Radical, in a late article shows up Mrs. Lincoln's wardrobe, and the doings in the White House in a new light. We commend the following extracts to the attention of the Union League and followers of this county, and ask them if it does not present a beautiful picture to the world, of the corruptions of the White House and its inmates during the last administration. Don Piatt says:

Well, it is shameful enough, God knows, but in what way it is to attach to the Republican organization we are at a loss to discover. That the advertisement, so widely made at this woman's request, exhibits not only her greed, but the corrupt condition of the government in which she took so prominent a part, we are prepared to admit, and in this view it is damaging to the late administration. But the cry of ingratitude is too silly for refutation. It was known to the wide circle that business or social life brought in contact with the Executive mansion, that its interior was as gross, vulgar and corrupt as it was possible for any house to be and retain even a semblance of respectability. The startled public now reads its history in a forty-thousand-dollar wardrobe, made up of shawls, laces and diamonds, the gifts of "dear friends"—how "dear," the poor public is now realizing in the millions that shameless thieves have stolen and are yet stealing. The saddest part of all this is the tarnish it casts upon the sainted memory of the martyr President. How was it possible that these gifts from "dear friends" were paid for in lucrative offices, given under the signature of Abraham Lincoln, without that shrewd man being aware of the infamous character of the official, and the nature of the bargain that brought him into office? This is a surmise only, but Thurlow Weed seems determined to bring the business home to the late President.

Mr. Weed might have added the fact that this refusal to approve of a barefaced swindlecost Mr. Smith his seat in the cabinet, Mr. Lincoln so far sympathizing with his wife in this extraordinary transaction. Mr. Lincoln was not only as unprincipled and avaricious as the late sale indicates, but she was and is exceedingly ignorant and stupid, and yet how are we to account for the control she exercised over the domestic life and public affairs of the lamented President. We remember how pained the loyal hearts of the Union were to learn that in the darkest hour of our national pride, when our armies were paralysed by imbecility, and our treasury was being robbed by dishonest agents, while the artillery of the enemy echoed through the very halls of the capitol, a dancing, drinking entertainment, or ball was given at the White House. This was shocking, but it became horrible when the fact leaked out that, while the noise of revelry shook the time-honored mansion, in one of the upper chambers a child of the host and hostess lay dying of a fever, that had set in and alarmed the family physician, when the cards of invitation were being issued. We turn away from the inner life of this White House, that was indeed a whitened sepulchre, in sorrowing disgust, and feel ashamed through all our being that the curtain was ever lifted to let light in on its loathsome contents.

What a picture for our country and the world to contemplate! A cabinet minister is removed by the President because he refuses to pay a fraudulent bill presented by the President's wife. This makes the late President a party to that swindling transaction. Mr. Lincoln must have been aware that the gifts from "dear friends" were paid for in lucrative offices given under his own signature. Reader, what think you when you are told by a personal and political friend of President Lincoln, that everything within the White House, during his administration "was as gross, vulgar and corrupt as it was possible for any house to be and retain even a semblance of respectability."

We had rather these things, for the credit of the country, had not been made known, but as they are now divulged by the friends of the late President, we are in favor of having them ventilated to the bottom.

VALUE OF PERSONAL NEATNESS.—Many worthy women, who would not for the world be found wanting in the manner of personal neatness, seem somehow to have the notion that any study of the arts of personal beauty in family life is unmatronly. They buy their clothes with simple reference to economy, and have them made up without any question of becomingness; and hence marriage sometimes transforms a charming, trim, tripping young lady into a waddling matron, whose every-day toilet suggests only the idea of a feather-bed tied round with a string. For my part I do not believe that the summary banishment of the graces from the domestic circle as soon as the baby makes its appearance, is at all conducive to domestic affection. Nor do I think that there is any need of so doing. These good house wives are in danger, like other saints, of falling into the error of neglecting the body through too much thoughtfulness for others, and too little for themselves. If a woman ever has any attractiveness, let her try and keep it, setting it down as one of of her domestic talents.

JOSH BILLINGS says: The best cure I kno of for tite boots, is small feet.

LIVE WITHIN YOUR MEANS.—We don't like stinginess. We don't like economy, when it comes down to rags and starvation. We have no sympathy with the notion that a poor man should hitch himself to a post and stand still, while the rest of the world moves forward. It is no man's duty to deny himself every amusement, every luxury, every recreation, every comfort, that he may get rich. It is no man's duty to make an iceberg of himself, to shut his eyes and ears to the suffering of his fellows, and to deny himself the enjoyment that results from generous actions, merely that he may hoard wealth for his heirs to quarrel about. But there is an economy which is every man's duty, and which is especially commendable in the man who struggles with poverty—an economy which is consistent with happiness, and which must be practised if the poor man would secure independence. It is almost every man's privilege, and it becomes his duty, to live within his means; not to, but within them. Wealth does not make the man, we admit, and should never be taken into the account in our judgment of men; but competence should always be secured, when it can be, by the practice of economy and self-denial to only a tolerable extent. It should be secured, not so much for others to look upon, or to raise us in the estimation of others, as to secure the consciousness of independence and the constant satisfaction which is derived from its acquirement and possession.

SELLING OUT CHEAP.—At the late Alabama election it is said the Rads shelled out "land warrants" to the negroes without number. Any number of acres would be given for a vote.—"Yer vote and yer takes yer choice," was the leading principle. The intelligent voters folded their slips nicely, deposited them in the lining of worn-out head coverings and departed for the cotton patch dreaming of the good old time "Massa Rad" had promised, and thinking he would like to vote again on the same liberal terms. Their visions were plenty of land and an abundance of sheep, won by putting a piece of paper in a window. A few days ago a number brought quite a quantity of these "land warrnts" a to a gentleman in this city, on whose plantation they worked. They were in need of ready money, and for a small consideration in greenbacks offered him the "deeds." He could not see it, and the purchase was not consummated, much to the sorrow of the negroes. Who wants to buy "land warrants" cheap?—Columbus Sun.

TRUTH.—Adhere always rigidly and undeviatingly to truth; but while you express what is true, express it in a pleasing manner. Truth is the picture—the manner is the frame that displays it to advantage. If a man blends his angry passions with his search after truth, becomes his superior by suppressing yours, and attend only to the justness and force of his reasoning. Truth, conveyed in austere and acrimonious language, seldom has a salutary effect, since we reject the truth, because we are prejudiced against the mode of communication. A man may betray the cause of truth by his unreasonable zeal, as he destroys its salutary effects by the acrimony of his manner. Whoever would be a successful instructor must become a mild and affectionate friend.

A FAIR BARGAIN.—A Western farmer being obliged to sell a yoke of oxen to pay his hired man, told him that he could not keep him any longer.

"Why," said the man, "I will stay and take some of your cows in place of money."

"But what shall I do," said the old farmer, "when my cows and oxen are all gone!"

"Why you can work for me and get them all back again."

OLD Cooper is a Dutchman, and like many other men, of whatever nationality, has a wife that is "some." One day the old man got into trouble with a neighbor, which resulted in a fight. The neighbor was getting the better of the old man, who resisted his antagonist to the best of his ability, when his wife broke out with: "Lie still Cooper if he kills you, I'll sue him for damages."

The following conversation occurred between a graceless boy and his teacher:

"What does your father do when he sits down at the table?"

"He asks for the brandy bottle."

"I don't mean that. Well, then, what does your mother do when you sit down at the table?"

"She says she will wring our necks if we spill any grease on the floor."

THE head of a turtle, for several days after its separation from the body, retains and exhibits animal life and sensation. An Irishman had decapitated one, and some days afterwards was amusing himself by putting sticks into its mouth, which it bit with violence. A lady who saw the proceeding, exclaimed: "Why Patrick, I thought he was dead." "So he is, ma'am; but the crather's not sensible of it."

IF a man who makes a deposition is a depositor, does it necessarily follow that the man who makes an allegation is an alligator.

THE following is given at a fireman's toast: "The ladies—the only incendiaries who kindle a flame which water will not extinguish."

A LATE heavy fall of rain showed one ludicrous sight—an attempt to crowd two fashionably-dressed women under one umbrella.

—The Rump is to meet on the 21st inst., and it don't intend to adjourn while there is a cent of money to be gobbled or an office to put a Radical fellow in.

The Bedford Gazette.

Friday Morning, November 15, 1867.

HOW SHALL WE USE IT?

The Democratic Party of the country has won a splendid victory, but one which, primarily, will be rather of local than of general advantage to the people. Had a Congress been chosen at the late elections, the Democracy would, doubtless, have elected a majority of members, and thus would have acquired great power in national affairs. As it is, the will of the people as expressed at the ballot-box, will not be carried out by the Radical majority in the law-making branch of the government. Hence, we say the late Democratic triumph is chiefly beneficial in State and local affairs, though, secondarily, it will be of vast service in the great work of re-establishing the equality of the States, and by means of that consummation, in restoring union and peace to the country. It will eventually defeat the infamous tyranny established in the South by the Radical party; it will drive out of Congress the men who have turned over ten States to the dominion of the blacks; it will give us a Democratic President; and thus will the country be redeemed from the thrall of Radicalism. All this will happen, beyond peradventure, if we but use our victory wisely. What will we do with it? Shall we look back and cast its fruits upon the smouldering embers of issues tried in the fierce flames of civil war, and thus permit them also to become dust and ashes? or shall we use them to nourish and cheer us as we push forward to grapple with the monster in our path, the dragon which must be slain, ere peace and liberty may dwell in the land? The issues of the present demand all our attention; they involve all that was dear to the patriots of the past and all that is worth contending for in the future. Upon the settlement of these issues depend the franchises of millions of white people, the welfare of millions of blacks, and, hence, the endurance of our political system and the peace and prosperity of the country. The key to the settlement of these questions, is the Equality of the States. This disposes of the Negro question, of the franchise question, of all the vexed questions that have sprung from the Radical attempt at Reconstruction. Let the Democracy make this the central idea in their National Platform, and let them insist upon a speedy and honest payment of the public debt, equal taxation, the abolition of a standing army, retrenchment in the expenditures of the government, and all will be well.

NO MATTER WHO.

The recent elections indicate that the people of the North have determined to defeat any candidate for the Presidency who will run upon a platform containing an endorsement of the Congressional African plan of Southern Reconstruction. The country cannot bear the ignominy which would attach to its history, if ten millions of whites were to be placed under the dominion of four millions of Negroes. No matter who may be the candidate who consents to run upon a platform endorsing this enormity, he will be beaten by the most overwhelming vote ever cast against an aspirant for public office. Military prestige, statesmanship, money, official patronage, nothing under the sun, can save the nominee of the party that endorses Negro Suffrage. In these times, men are nothing, principles everything. The people have given the Radicals timely warning. Will they heed it?

GREAT is the tribulation of the Radicals over their recent defeats. Their questioning as to the cause of their disaster is like unto the famous inquiry relative to the personage who struck the historic William Patterson. The various factions are now engaged in blaming it upon each other, Weed, Raymond and Co. declaring that the fanaticism of the ultras killed them, and Greeley, Wade & Co., in turn, asserting that the "policy men" did the business. It is a pretty quarrel as it stands. We look on with the most sublime indifference, not caring a nickel which whips. "Go it, Betsey, Go it, Bear!"

THE Delaware Republican fears that its "Republican friends have gone too fast and too far in committing themselves to Gen. Grant for the next Presidency," and asks "are we to elect another man for Democratic purposes? * * * Is our party so besotted and ignorant that it will nominate a man of whose views nothing is known, and who for aught they do know may be directly opposed to them?" We do not know, friend Walter, but it looks to us as though you will either fail to elect, or your candidate must be one who will be controlled by the Seward-Weed-Raymond-Bingham influence.

"ANOTHER JOHNSON."

The overwhelming defeat of the Radicals, at the October and November elections, has frightened many of them from their propriety, and causes them to fight shy of the ultra men of their party. The factions which have been under the ban of the extremists, are taking advantage of this "scare," and are recruiting their ranks with great rapidity. The Weed men and the followers of Raymond, in New York, the Curtin men in Pennsylvania, and the Bingham-ites in the West, have all taken the cue, and are working away with great zeal and energy to recover their ascendancy in the Republican party. In order to accomplish their purpose, they have declared in favor of Gen. Grant as their nominee for the Presidency. By this course they hope to out-general the extreme Radicals, and to regain the control of affairs in the organization. Thus the Seward influence is once more to be made predominant in New York, Cameron is to be laid on the shelf in Pennsylvania, and Chase and Wade are to be given back seats in the West. Yet these miserable factions are not more conservative than the men whose retention of power they oppose. They do not propose to abandon any of the extreme measures inaugurated by the outspoken Radicals. But they are "policy men," have always been such, and hence their quarrel with Greely, Wade, Sumner and Co. Meanwhile, the latter are doing all they can to stem the tide of opposition to their continued ascendancy. They have brought out Judge Chase as their candidate for the Presidency, and are advocating his claims with great vigor. The N. Y. Tribune, of a late date, contains a long article devoted to the interests of Chase, and its lead is followed by other prominent Radical journals. Already the feeling for Grant is getting weaker, and those who were ardent in his support a week ago, are now inquiring as to whether he is really a Radical and whether they can safely trust him. Others say they will not support any man who is not a tried Radical, having had a sufficient experience with men of doubtful political status. They declare they will not have "another Johnson," and would rather that an out-and-out Democrat be elected, than to be afflicted with another turn-coat. And thus the fight wags. The question, just now, with Republicans, seems to be, Will we have another Johnson?

THE LATE ELECTIONS.

Glorious, indeed, is the result of the political battle of the fifth of November. New York, the Empire State, leads the column, with the magnificent majority of nearly 50,000! New Jersey follows with 13,000! Massachusetts chimes in with a gain of 38,000! Maryland sweeps Radicalism out of existence, by a majority of 40,000! Missouri, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, all make heavy Democratic gains. Now, let the Democrats of Pennsylvania strive to imitate their brethren of these States. We must carry our State by 20,000, next year. Let every Democrat work for the cause, and let the work be commenced right now.

WHY doesn't the Inquirer hoist the name of Ulysses S. Grant, for President? At the last Radical Mass Meeting, in this place, a resolution was offered by Capt. Wm. Kirk, of St. Clair tp., and unanimously adopted by the meeting, declaring Gen. Grant the choice of the party in this county, for President. Isn't it about time the Inquirer obeys the voice of its party.

THE Inquirer last week stated that it would require the official count in New York to decide how that state had gone. Reliable paper that.

An Enthusiastic Democrat.

The following petition was presented to the Common Council of Lynn, Mass., a few days since:

"Whereas, On the the meeting of the 10th of October he illuminated his residence on Union Park, on the outskirts of the city, and commenced firing one hundred guns in honor of the recent victories in California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, etc., etc.; and

"Whereas, After firing fifty-three (53) of the number, he was prevented from further demonstrations by a peremptory order from the City Marshal,

"Your petitioner craves permission to fire the remaining forty-seven on any evening your honorable body may appoint, and as in duty bound will ever pray.

"JOSEPH LAKEMAN."

SUNDAY CARS.—The decision just given by the Supreme Court, sitting at Pittsburg, dissolves the injunction granted some months ago by Justice Strong, at nisi prius, restraining the passenger railway companies of Philadelphia from running their cars on Sunday. The Justices who concurred in dissolving the injunction, are Woodward, Thompson and Read; the dissenting, Strong and Agnew. It is understood that the ground taken by Justices Woodward and Thompson, is, that the remedy of those who oppose the running of the cars is by action at law and not in equity, as in the present suit; while Justice Read is understood to hold that the running of cars on Sunday, is "a work of necessity and charity."

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

"COMETH UP AS A FLOWER" is the title of an autobiographical story of the richest kind just issued by D. Appleton & Co., New York. The London Times speaks of it with great praise. Its chief merits consist of the powerful and vigorous manner in which it is told, in the exceeding beauty and poetry of its sketches of scenery, and in the soliloquies, sometimes quaintly humorous, sometimes cynically bitter, sometimes plaintive and melancholy, which are uttered by the heroine. It is written by a lady—a new hand, and is said to be so extraordinarily good, that whenever you begin it you cannot lay it down again, hardly even when it is finished. New York: D. APPLETON & Co. Price 60 cents.

THE MERCERSBURG REVIEW.—One of the foremost literary publications in the United States is the Mercersburg Review. Devoted, in general, to religious topics, it is yet of great interest to the man of letters. There is much learning in its articles, and the scholar finds in them a rich mine from which to replenish his stock of knowledge. The October number contains the "Commencement Address" of Dr. J. W. Nevin to the Graduating Class, of 1867, at Franklin and Marshall College, "English Literature and the Reformation," by Dr. Higbee, "Normal Humanity, or Man in the Light of the Divine Idea," by Rev. S. H. Giesy, "National Literature," by Rev. F. K. Levan, and a number of other able and interesting papers. Address S. R. Fisher & co., 54 North Sixth st., Philadelphia.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—This very popular and exceedingly cheap Magazine presents an attractive table of contents for December. Amethyst Wayne's charming story, "The Derwent eyes and Hair," is completed; Mrs. Edson's exciting serial, "The Lady of Lindenwold," is intensely interesting, while "Paul's Romance," by Miss Hale, and "My Darling," a poem, by James Franklin Fitts, are among the choicest of magazine reading. The illustrations are also remarkably good, making this one of the best numbers of BALLOU ever issued.

The publishers offer unusual attractions for the coming year. With the January number the Magazine will be enlarged to one hundred pages, and several new and attractive features introduced. Miss Willian has written a romance entitled, "So as by Fire," which will commence the year. Amethyst Wayne will furnish an exciting serial story for Boys, entitled "Old Hugh's Look-off," which will be finely illustrated by Kilburn, and will appear in the new department, called "Our Young People's Story-Teller;" a popular author will furnish a charming story for Girls, while there will be at least a dozen other stories and poems of the highest literary excellence, and intensely interesting, all complete in the January number.

It will be seen from the foregoing that Ballou's Magazine for 1868 will eclipse its present excellence, while the extraordinary low price is retained. It is only $1.50 per year, or 15 cents a number. Clubs receive it for $1.25. The proprietors have good cause for calling it "the cheapest magazine in the world." Published by Elliott, Thomes & Talbot, Boston, Mass.

"DEMOREST."—The Christmas Number of this unrivalled magazine is received, and is really a gem. Its engravings and stories are excellent, its "Christmas Dinner," which is illustrated, looks good enough to eat, and is accompanied with proper receipts for cooking it.

We notice several additions, in this number, of interest to ladies. One of which is the enlargement of the already complete Fashion Department, and of page illustrations of bonnets, cloaks, and children's costumes. The pattern sheet is a very valuable one, being printed on both sides. A feature of the fashions is originality, and, therefore, of special value to American ladies, who want practical designs and information.

We sincerely think the best investment a man can make for his wife, just now, would be a year's subscription to this useful and beautiful Monthly. It is even possible to obtain it for nothing, and a valuable present in addition, the particulars of which can be had by purchasing a number, or sending for a circular. Subscription price, $3 yearly. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 473 Broadway, New York.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—We are in receipt of this popular Lady's Magazine for December. It is a splendid number, with two steel engravings, a mammoth fashion plate, a colored pattern in Berlin work, and nearly fifty wood cuts of braiding and other patterns and late fashions. The Publisher says, that, in 1867, "Peterson's Magazine had more subscribers than all the other Ladies' Magazines combined." We do not wonder at this, for it really gives MORE FOR THE MONEY THAN ANY IN THE WORLD. The stories are by the very best writers and are written originally for "Peterson." The mammoth colored fashions are the newest and latest, the Principal Editor having gone out to Paris to secure patterns in advance. About a thousand pages of reading will be given in 1868, when the Magazine will be greatly improved. The terms will however remain two dollars a year to single subscribers. To clubs it is cheaper still, viz: five copies for $8,00, eight copies for $12,00, or fourteen copies for $20,00: astonishingly low. To every person getting up a club (at these rates,) the Publisher will send an extra copy gratis. Specimens sent (if written for) to those wishing to get up clubs. Address, post-paid, CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

NEWS AND OTHER ITEMS.

—A young lady living near Weston, Va., saw a squirrel running through the yard, and took down her father's rifle to shoot it. COL. J. W. FORNEY publishes in his two papers, both daily, a summary of the reasons why Gen. Grant ought to be the Republican candidate for the Presidency. He kindly refrains from reviewing the military career of the distinguished soldier; but, as he devotes to the catalogue of his civic virtues five solid columns of the very biggest type ever used on The Press, we cannot complain that he has done less than justice to his subject. As human life in New York is too short for anybody to read five columns of The Press, we have reduced Col. Forney's points to these: 1. General Grant succeeded Mr. Stanton as Secretary of War: this being an act of "rare sagacity and courage." 2. Gen. Rawlins believes in Grant. 3. E. B. Washburn believes in Grant. 4. Senator Thayer, of Nebraska, believes in Grant. 5. "Several gentlemen named in connection with the Presidency" have promised to vote for him. 6. What his principles are is nobody's business.

All these points are, of course, put with that Spartan terseness of style and delicious beauty of phrase for which the venerable Secretary of the Senate has long been famous; but we must confess that they fail to stimulate in us the generous enthusiasm which warms the Colonel's breast. General Grant may be a good Republican, but we are not satisfied with his backers.—New York Tribune.

An Omaha dispatch on the 6th, says: Col. Powell, the noted Indian fighter, just from Fort Phil. The Indians express a willingness to make peace only on the terms that the Government abandon the forts and withdraw the troops from the Powder River country. NEW YORK, November 8.—The Tribune estimates the democratic majority in the State to be 43,612. The democrats have a majority of 12 in the Assembly, and 10 on joint ballot. The democrats claim that their majority in the State will be over 45,000.

LATER.

The Albany Journal (Rep.) of Saturday, estimates the Democratic majority in New York State, at 49,871! It will likely reach 50,000.

NEW JERSEY.

The Democratic majority in this State is about 13,000. The Democrats have a majority of 1 in the Senate and 30 in the House, on joint ballot, 31. A number of Radical counties have been completely revolutionized, among them Camden, which hitherto has given from 400 to 600 Radical majority, and this year goes 500 Democratic.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Democratic gain in Massachusetts is astounding. Last year Bullock Rad., had 65,000 majority; this year he is elected by about 27,000, a Democratic gain of 38,000! The city of Boston, the "Hub of the Universe," gave 2,072 Democratic majority; last year it gave over 4,000 Radical. The Prohibition Radicals are overwhelmingly defeated in the Legislature. The Democrats and License men have three-fourths of both houses. John Quincy Adams, the Democratic candidate for Governor, is elected to the Legislature from the town of Quincy!

A National Thanksgiving.

By the President of the United States—A Proclamation.—In conformity with a recent custom that may now be regarded as established on national consent and approval, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby recommend to my fellow-citizens, that THURSDAY the TWENTY-EIGHTH day of NOVEMBER next, be set apart and observed throughout the Republic as a day of National Thanksgiving and praise to the Almighty Ruler of nations, with whom are dominion and power, and who maketh peace in His high places. Resting and refraining from secular labors on that day, let us reverently and devoutly give thanks to our heavenly Father for the mercies and blessings with which He has crowned the now closing year. Especially let us remember that He has covered our land with greatly needed and very abundant harvests; that he has caused industry to prosper, not only in our fields, but also in our workshops, and in our mines, and in our forests. He has permitted us to multiply ships upon our lakes and rivers, and upon the high seas, and at the same time to extend our iron roads so far into the secluded places of the continent, as to guarantee speedy overland intercourse between the two oceans. He has inclined our hearts to turn away from domestic contentions and commotions, consequent upon a distracting and desolating civil war, and to walk more and more in the ancient ways of loyalty, conciliation, and brotherly love. He has blessed the peaceful efforts with which we have established new and important commercial treaties with foreign nations, while we have at the same time strengthened our national defences, and greatly enlarged our national border.

While thus rendering the unanimous and heartfelt tribute of national praise and thanksgiving, which is so justly due to Almighty God, let us not fail to implore Him that the same divine protection and care which we have hitherto so undeservedly, and yet so constantly enjoyed, may be continued to our country and our people throughout all their generations forever.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 26th day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1867, and of the independence of the United States, the ninety-second.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC.—This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyle, the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC, and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. Schenck makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption, for his days of visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp

Sold by all druggists and dealers; price $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 the half dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. Schenck's principal Office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

MASS MEETING!

Democratic Jubilee!

There will be a Mass Meeting of the Democrats and Conservatives of Bedford county, at the Court House, on MONDAY NIGHT, NOVEMBER 18th (Court week) to celebrate the victories achieved at the recent elections. A number of addresses will be delivered upon the occasion. Let the people turn out and hear the state of the country discussed, so that they may make up an honest judgment in regard to their politicaI duty in the future.

GEO. MARDORFF,
Chairman Dem. Co. Com.
W. C. SCHAEFFER, Sec'y.

GETTING MUST-Y.—Some of our bills have been stored away so long in their appropriate pigeon holes, waiting to be "lifted" by those whose names are written upon them, that they have become quite must-y. Indeed, they must be collected, and we give this last notice, to those who are interested in saving costs upon them, that after the coming Court, they will be placed in the hands of an officer. We have neither time nor inclination to dun any more, and have made up our minds to pay somebody a fair percentage for making collections. We have indulged many of our friends until indulgence has ceased to be a virtue, and if, after this notice, they are still delinquent, they can blame nobody but themselves, if they are forced to pay. Call and see us; bring your receipts with you, if you have any; let us settle, any how; and do not, by your negligence, compel us to resort to the law. Court week will give almost every one in arrears an opportunity to communicate with us. If you cannot come in person, authorize your neighbor who is on the jury, or a witness, or a constable, to settle for you. Attend to this and save yourselves trouble and the printer much vexation.

WINTER.—"Chill November's surly blast makes fields and forests bare," and likewise covers them—with snow. On Tuesday morning last, we had a small sprinkle of feathering flakes, and visions of furs and sleighs and prancing horses, and imaginings of the tintinnabulations of the bells, and the smirking and smiling and chattering and flattering of the belles, at once flashed upon the quickened senses of ye gay and festive folk who delight themselves in the chapped nose, the frozen toes and the other woes, of a fashionable sleighing-party. Others who love to eliminate pleasure from the problem of life, by practising the sliding-scale, were borne at once, on fancy's wings, to the quiet reaches of Elm Bark, where, singularly enough, their heated imagination placed a smooth and solid sheet of ice, and whence they seemed to hear the ring of the skater's foot, sweet to their ears as the music of the spheres. And the boys—oh! the glorious boys! Sleds were in their heads, and slippery pavements and smooth turn-pikes danced a jig before their excited fancy. But alas! for the joys of the girls and the boys, it ceased to snow and there was no show for sleighing, skating, sliding or any other amusement of the slippery sort.

A SWEET EXAMINATION.—Not every examination of teachers, turns out as sweet as the one at Stonerstown on last Saturday. Some boys, bent on mischief, had made a journey to a land "flowing with milk and honey," in Huntingdon co., and there captured a bee-hive filled with honey. Like the man who drew the elephant at a raffle, they were at a loss to know what to do with their prize. But, as the sequel shows, they finally concluded to store the hive in the loft of the Stonerstown school house. Well, the examination of teachers began, on Saturday morning. The applicants for examination began to hum, on the first floor, and the bees on the second. Presently a number of the latter dropped from the hive, to the first floor. The County Superintendent found several buzzing about his ears, greatly to his annoyance.—About this time an officer of the law came and demanded the right to search the house. It was granted. One of the School Directors mounted a bench, ascended to the loft, and soon returned with the treasure—a hive filled with honey. It was now proposed to test the contents which were accordingly issued out by one White, and were found to be a prime article. The County Superintendent likes honey, but would rather have it stored elsewhere than in school house lofts.

TRY IT!—A dozen copies of the GAZETTE added to our list in each township, within the next three months, will do the Democratic cause more good at the next election, than all the mass meetings and torch-light processions that can be gotten up whilst the campaign is at fever heat. This could easily be done, if the working Democrats in each district would determine that it shall be done.

REGULATOR.—See Irvine and Statler's new advertisement in another column. Liberal advertisers always sell cheap and good articles. Of this class Irvine and Statler are a notable example.

THE END OF THE WORLD.—There is always an anxiety among a considerable portion of the population of the world about the doom of the planet in which they live. They anticipate the end of the world, and whilst a few prepare for it, the vast majority satisfy themselves with dreading it. A writer in the North British Review, among others, has lately joined the ranks of these anticipators of the end of the world, and declares that some change is soon to take place in the planet. He writes in rather a frightful vein, and says: "What this change is to be we dare not even conjecture; but we see in the heavens themselves some traces of destructive elements, and some indications of their power. The fragments of broken planets, the descent of meteoric stones upon our globe, the wheeling comets welding their loose materials in our own satellite, the appearance of new stars and the disappearance of others, are as the solar furnace, the volcanic eruptions, foreshadowings of that impending convulsion to which the world is doomed.—Thus placed on a planet which is to be burned up, and under heavens which are to pass away; thus treading, as it were, on the cemeteries, and dwelling upon the mausoleums of former worlds, let us learn the lesson of humility and wisdom, if we have not already been taught in the school of revelation.

A SNAKE IN A BOY'S STOMACH.—A boy aged eight years, son of Benjamin Whisler, residing in Mifflin township, a short distance, from Newville, in Cumberland county, has been seriously afflicted for some time past on account of having a living snake in his stomach. The presence of the young reptile was discovered about two years ago, and by a rapid growth it has attained a size that renders it very painful to the boy. Thirteen physicians assembled at the family residence last week and held a consultation, when it was decided that the only manner in which the snake could be removed was by cutting open the stomach of the sufferer. The boy has not eaten any food except sweetmeats and new milk for more than a year past and has a horror of everything else in the shape of nourishment. The case is a very singular one, and may be considered by many in the light of a snake story, but we assure our readers the facts above stated are strictly true.—Herald, Newville.

MURDER TRIAL AT YORK.—Wm. Donovan, charged with the murder of the Squibb family, in York county, in June, 1866, has again been found guilty of murder in the first degree. A similar verdict was rendered on a previous trial, but a new trial was granted him. The last occupied more than two weeks, and much interest was felt in it throughout. The case was given to the jury on Monday evening; after an absence of five hours, a verdict of murder in the first degree was rendered.—Judge Fisher presided. Messrs. Bittenger, Fisher and McElroy conducted the prosecution, and Messrs. Maish, Ziegler and Wickes defended the prisoner. The trial is said to have been the longest ever had in that county.—Gettysburg Compiler.

CHURCH WEDDINGS.—The fashion now is, at Church weddings, to stretch a broad white ribbon across the aisle up which the bridal party pass, and above which none but invited guests are allowed to sit. The bridesmaids enter in pairs, unattended by gentlemen—the groom with his future mother-in-law—the bride with her father. Two of the groomsmen precede the whole party, and the others walk behind. After the ceremony, each of them gives an arm to one of the maids, as the party leave the church.

THE CELEBRATED MORNING GLORY GAS BURNER.—This stove requires to be filled with coal, once in twenty-four hours, this is all the attention it requires as it is a Self-Feeder, and keeps fire all the time. BALTIMORE GAS BURNING FIRE-BOARD STOVE. HEATERS for Churches, Schools and Dwellings.—Also second hand stoves suitable for Churches and School-Houses, will be sold low. Call at B. M. Blymyer & Co's Store, No. 1 Stone Row.—nov8w3

SAUER KRAUT.—The season for manufacturing this favorite article of food for winter consumption has arrived, and "cutters" and "stampers" are in lively demand. Sauer Kraut, years ago, was considered a vulgar dish, fit for "plebeians" only, but it has gradually worked its way forward, and its merits are now fully appreciated by all classes.

MORE TEACHERS.—We want more teachers. Those who have not been examined yet, will please remember that the Co. Sup't will be in Bedford, during Court week, to examine all who are qualified to teach and were unable to attend the regular examinations.

H. W. F.

LARGE SALE.—There will be a large sale of New and Second-Hand Cooking Stoves and Parlor and Ten plate Stoves, suitable for Churches, School Houses, &c., in front of B. M. Blymyer & Co.'s Store, on Monday, at 1 o'clock, Nov. 18th (Court week).

WINTER CLOTHING.—If you want good warm winter clothing, go to Berkstresser's. If you want a good hat, go to Berkstresser's, where you will find all kinds of gent's furnishing goods to suit everybody. Remember the place, one door West of the Washington Hotel.

WOOD! WOOD!—Twenty cords of wood wanted at this office, in payment of subscription. None but good hickory, or chestnut oak will be taken.

REV. R. F. Sample will preach (d. v.) on next Sabbath, 17th, at 11 a. m., in the Presbyterian church, in this place.

—The yellow fever is no longer epidemic at New Orleans.

SHALL THE CHILDREN of the Soldiers and Sailors who gave their lives for the preservation of the Union be provided with homes, and receive a good education? This is a question which will admit of but one answer—in the affirmative. It only remains, therefore, for us to point out the best mode in which it can be done. A careful examination has satisfied us, and will satisfy the public, that the projectors of the Riverside Institute, located in the village of Riverside, New Jersey, on the Delaware, have devised the most feasible method. Acting under the charter of the Washington Library company of Philaddlphia, incorporated by the State of Pennsylvania, they are offering stock at the low rate of one dollar per share, and will give to each subscriber a beautiful and valuable steel engraving, worth at retail more than the price of the stock, and as an additional inducement will distribute among the stockholders presents valued at $300,000. Who can refuse to do a patriotic and benevolent action on these terms? Let every lover of his country record his name. Read Advertisement.

1867.—"THE WORLD."—1867.
The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper.
The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requisite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with consciencious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interest, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD accepts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, THE WORLD will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to cho
